Small Forest Fires Put Out

Crawford County fire fighters were called out twice on Wednesday, May 30, to put out small forest fires.

The first fire occurred at 6:15 p.m. on M-72 East, about one mile east of Thendara Road. A Sheriff's deputy using a fire extinguisher was able to suppress the fire that had started burning two outbuildings on the property adjacent to where the fire had started. Firemen from the Grayling City and Township Fire Dept. and the DNR finished putting the fire out.

A 33 year old Grayling man was cited by conservation officers for allowing a permitted fire to escape.

Approximately 1/2 to 3/4 of an acre was destroyed. Damage to the outbuildings was limited to scorched paint.

Later that evening, at about 8:48, firemen from the Beaver Creek Fire Dept. and DNR had a difficult time locating the source of heavy smoke reported in the Oak Road area, north of Dort Road. Finally they discovered a small forest fire burning about 300 yards off Oak Road, next to a vacant travel trailer.

A circle of fire, approximately 200 feet in diameter, was extinguished by Beaver Creek firemen and DNR fire fighters put a plow line around the area to further secure it.

The fire is being investigated by the Beaver Creek Township Fire Dept. and the DNR.

According to DNR fire officers, everyone burning is required to have a burning permit once the snow leaves the ground, even if it is raining. Persons with a burning permit are responsible for containing the fire and for all damage and suppression costs caused should the fire escape.

As of Avalanche press time on Tuesday the fire danger was listed as moderate, but DNR fire officials said even with the recent rain, the accompanying winds have dried the wood. They ask that extreme caution be used when ever fire is used outdoors.

78 Elementary Students To Be Transferred in '90-91

The Crawford AuSable Board of Education took action at their May 21 meeting to continue their past practice of transferring two fourth grade classes and one kindergarten class from the Grayling Elementary to the Frederic Elementary for the 1990-91 school year. The transfers must be made as there is not sufficient classroom space at the Grayling Elementary to house those classes. This is the same transfer pattern as was used for the 1989-90 school year. Approximately twenty-five kindergarten students and fifty-three fourth grade students must be transferred.

The same process will be used to determine students who will be transferred as was used during the 1989-90 school year. Volunteers will be sought at both the kindergarten and fourth grade level. If sufficient volunteers are not found, remaining fourth grade slots will be filled by a lottery drawing. The remaining kindergarten slots will be filled by selecting those kindergarten students who were last registered for next fall.

Parents of next year's kindergarten and fourth grade students will be notified by mail within the next two weeks of the transfer selection process.

3 Candidates Seek Local School District Board Seats

Voters in the Crawford-AuSable School District will be selecting from a field of three candidates for two four-year vacancies on the district's Board of Education on Election Day, June 11.

Christopher (Chris) S. Dunckley has been a resident of Crawford County for 30 years. He is a graduate of Grayling High School, Michigan State University Insurance Institute and has also attended Life Underwriting Training Council classes at North Western Michigan College.

Dunckley is employed with the Farm Bureau Insurance Company.

"I have a vested interest in Crawford County as I grew up here as a child and graduated from Grayling High School," said Dunckley. "I now have three children and will soon have four children in our school system. I am very familiar with how the system operates and believe I play a vital role for quality education for all of our children."

Dunckley was elected to the board in 1988 to a special two year term to fill Fred Allen's position, following Allen's resignation. He will be running for his first four-year term.

Rev. Robert A. Gordon has been a resident of Crawford County for two years. He is a graduate of Port Huron Northern High School, received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Oakland University and a Masters of Divinity from Wartburg Theological Seminary. Rev. Gordon is the minister at St. John Lutheran Church.

Rev. Gordon has 15 years experience in commercial and industrial construction. He is a past member of the board of the Debuque Montessori School, and did his post graduate work in curriculum development and family systems theory.

"I see my involvement with the school board as two fold," said Rev. Gordon, "first, as an advocate for the well-being of our youth and secondly, as a taxpayer concerned with the responsible use of our tax dollars."

Carol E. Ramaswamy has been a resident of Crawford County for almost eight years. She has a Bachelor of Science degree in nursing from Mercy College of Detroit.

Ramaswamy is currently serving as president of the Parent Teacher Organization, was vice president of the Grayling Coop. Nursery and is now a board member, and is on the Community Education Advisory Council.

Curbside Recycling Comes to Grayling

Customers of Milltown Refuse Service will soon be able to recycle their newspapers and plastic containers at the same time they usually "take out the garbage."

On Monday, June 11, Milltown Refuse Service will begin picking up plastic and newspapers for recycling during its usual scheduled routes. Plastic items such as milk and juice containers, soap and bleach bottles, plastic grocery bags, and all other types of plastic bags and containers must be in separate bags or garbage cans.

John Miller, director of the Crawford-Otsego Landfill, said plastic items for recycling should be rinsed before setting them out for pick-up. Newspapers should be bound with twine or placed in a box to prevent them from being scattered by the wind.

Residents of Grayling and other Milltown Refuse Service customers are asked to set recyclable items off to one side, away from regular garbage, so that sanitation workers will recognize it as recyclable materials.

Owner Bob McLachlan said a second truck will be following the refuse truck to collect the recyclables.

The Crawford-Otsego Landfill has placed recycling containers at the Grayling Township refuse transfer station on North Down River Road and residents in Grayling Township who use the facility can begin recycling their plastic, newspapers, cardboard and metal items free of charge this weekend.

No glass please. Miller said the county recycling center has not started recycling glass at this time.

8 Candidates After KCC Terms

By Irene Pettyjohn

Eight candidates will be vying for four positions on the Kirtland Community College Board of Trustees on June 11. Four persons have filed petitions for two six-year term positions and four persons filed for two two-year seats.

Filing for the six-year positions are:

Incumbent Jerry Hayes has been a resident of Crawford County for 19 years. He has a Bachelor of Arts degree in elementary education from Northern Michigan University.

Hayes has been a teacher for the Crawford-AuSable School District for 19 years. Before moving to Grayling, he taught sixth grade at St. Johns for nearly one year. Hayes was a 4-H leader for four years, serving as treasurer for the 4-H Leader Council.

"I was instrumental in bringing the 2 Plus 2 program to the Kirtland Community College during my first six years on the Board of Trustees," Hayes said. "That program allows a Kirtland student to take two years at Kirtland, transfer to a four-year institution as a junior and receive a bachelor degree in two more years."

Hayes said he is presently vice chairman of the Board of Trustees.

"If re-elected to the board," he said, "I will continue to support the 2 Plus 2 program. Under this program students receiving their bachelor degrees can go on for an additional two years to earn their master degrees."

Michael L. Bearss has been a resident of Crawford County for three years. He is a graduate of the Traverse City High School and is board certified in Nuclear Medicine technology and is a registered technologist in Nuclear Medicine and Radiologic Technology.

Bearss is chief technologist of Nuclear Medicine at Otsego Memorial Hospital, opening the dept. five years ago. He has served on the Rosebush Village Council and was external vice president and state representative for the Mt. Pleasant Jaycees.

"The organizational skills and objectivity that I have developed in my profession will allow me to provide a new and fresh view of how the college can continue to be a vital educational facility," said Bearss, "in spite of recent setbacks."

Sally Jo Galer has been a resident of Oscoda County for 31 years. She is a graduate of Kirtland Community College, Alma College and the University of Notre Dame Law School. She has been an attorney in private practice since 1984, has served DEMOLITION—Another county landmark was lost last Thursday when the Crawford County Road Commission garage on M-72 East, built in 1929, was torn down to make room for the construction of the new office and garage complex. The building served as the road commission office and garage until the county purchased the facility on the corner of M-72 East and the I-75 Business Loop from the state in the late 1940's when the county took over the maintenance of state highways.

Twp. Planning Commission, Fair Board Working Together

At its May 29th meeting the Grayling Township Planning Commission voted unanimously to rescind its earlier decision to suspend the Crawford County Fair Association's conditional use permit for the fairgrounds.

The planning commission's vote came after a lengthy discussion with fair board members concerning work being done at fairground property and the fair board's decision to lease the fairground property to Welded Construction.

"This is a good beginning. They're working things out," said Grayling Township Supervisor Arnold Stancil. "The main difference of opinion between the two boards concerns the leasing of the property to the heavy equipment contractor and they're even working that out."

The planning commission voted April 24 to rescind the conditional use permit at the fairgrounds because of four areas they felt the conditional use permit was violated: leasing of the fairgrounds for a contractor's yard, installing a moto-cross track without approval, failure to plant trees, and failure to remove stumps and brush.

Fair board members said they were granted permission by the Crawford County Commissioners in a unanimous vote to lease the land to Welded Construction.

Fair board members said the decision to lease the land was considered from a fundraising standpoint. The Fair's budget for the four-day event is $28,000. The fair board's only income for the year is gate receipts for the four days of the fair and a share from the midway revenue. Government grants can only fund buildings, fences, lighting, or other structures. The $5,000 earned from the lease agreement is a big boost for the Fair and can help pay for some of the work being done at the fairgrounds and some of the entertainment being brought in for this year's Fair.

Fair Board President John Naour said at the time the lease was signed, the company gave no indication there would be this amount of equipment and materials on the property.

Naour also said much of the equipment is being put to use at the fairgrounds clearing and preparing land for the athletic area, which will include two soccer fields and a softball diamond. The construction company is also providing service to widen the fairgrounds driveway, move the horse arena to its new location, and seed the athletic fields and other areas of the fairgrounds. Fair board members said if it were not for the generosity and cooperation of this company, the fairgrounds would not be as far along as they are.

Concerning the moto-cross track, fair board members said they had discussed it with the planning commission. Members from both boards felt this issue could be worked out and a public hearing will be scheduled if necessary.

The planning commission gave the fair board permission to continue improvements on the athletic fields and general appearance of the fairgrounds. Another meeting to review progress being made at the fairgrounds is being planned for September.

New DNR Field Office Dedication Slated For June 8

The new Department of Natural Resources Grayling Field Office will be dedicated 2-5 p.m. Friday, June 8, with DNR Director David Hales, Senator Connie Binsfeld, and Representative Ralph Ostling on hand.

The new facility, just west of I-75 on M-93, has two 12-stall garage-shop buildings with office space in the middle of each building. The main office building contains 13 offices, a large lobby, a conference room, plus offices, and a laboratory for U.S. Geological Survey employees.

Lehman Inmate Caught Near I-75

An inmate from Camp Lehman's minimum security prison facility on M-93 went "over the fence" Tuesday night, May 29, but was later apprehended by Crawford County Sheriff deputies.

Hiram Baker, 30, from Kalamazoo, who was serving a 2 1/2 to 5 year sentence for drunk driving, was discovered missing at the Camp's 11 p.m. bed check. Officials said Baker escaped sometime after the 10 p.m. check.

Baker was tracked by a Gaylord State Police K9 unit through Hartwick Pines State Forest, but lost the scent near Jones Lake Road and North Down River Road.

Sheriff deputies, while patrolling southbound I-75, spotted the suspect at the I-75 overpass and railroad crossing, south of Grayling. The suspect doubled back and jumped over the bank. He was arrested by deputies at 1:20 Monday morning.

Baker is at the Hiawatha Temporary Facility, a medium security facility, near Kinross in the Upper Peninsula. He had served about 1 1/2 years of his sentence and was eligible for parole on October 8, 1991.

Sheriff deputies were assisted making the arrest by the Grayling City Police.

Automobile Accidents Injure 5 Here

Two separate automobile accidents occurring in Grayling last week sent five persons to Mercy Hospital.

Harold Thomas McPherson, 71, from Mio, was taken to Mercy Hospital with possible broken ribs and a broken ankle, after he walked into a car driven by Ruth Marie Lyons, 68, of Kalkaska. The accident occurred at 2:30 p.m. on Wednesday, May 30 at the intersection of Peninsular and Michigan avenues.

Lyons said she was driving east on Michigan Avenue in heavy traffic and did not see McPherson until he walked into the side of her car.

According to city police, the damage to Lyon's car and witnesses of the accident supported her statement. There were no citations issued.

McPherson was in Grayling to visit his wife, who was a patient at Mercy Hospital.

Both drivers failed to yield at the corner of Chestnut and Vine streets last Friday, June 1, causing a crash that sent two children to the Mercy Hospital by ambulance. The accident occurred at 12:30 p.m.

Monica Nemeth, 5, a passenger in the car driven by Elaine Campbell, 51 of Grayling, suffered a broken collar bone. Derrick Wilder, 4, and his sister Liberty, 6, and Campbell escaped with only minor cuts and bruises. They were all treated and released. Campbell's car was a total loss.

"We were just fortunate that no one was sitting in the passenger side of the front seat," said Campbell. "That is where the impact occurred."

Loriann Pfaff, 22, of Grayling, driver of the second vehicle, was unhurt. Pfaff's car was also extensively damaged.

Patrolman Ronald McDonald dolls were used by city patrolmen at the accident site to help calm and refocus the attention of the children involved in the accident. Both the ambulance crew and emergency room staff remarked about the positive effect the dolls had on the young victims.

Youth Corps Director Visits Crawford County

Michigan Youth Corps director Betty Howe visited Crawford County on Friday,

June 1, where Michigan Youth Corps workers are replanting habitat for Kirtland's warblers in an area burned May 8 by tragic forest fires.

The Youth Corps crew is replacing jack pines for the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) on state-owned land in the AuSable State Forest.

Jack pine seedlings were planted on the site earlier this spring to provide habitat for the endangered Kirtland's warblers. Many of those trees were destroyed in the recent fires.

The new trees must be planted by hand so the other trees are not disturbed. DNR personnel trained the Youth Corps workers in reforestation techniques before they began work. The trees are planted in a special pattern designed to attract the Kirtland's warbler.

Anyone not counted yet, may also call the Decennial Hotline 1-800-999-1990. Local city, township, and county officials say Crawford County needs everyone to be counted to receive our fair share of state and federal funding.

6,700 Indiana Troops Arrive For Training

The weekend of June second and third marked the beginning of the Indiana National Guard arriving at Camp Grayling to begin annual training. The Indiana National Guard, mostly composed of the Thirty-eighth Infantry Division, expects to train nearly six-thousand seven hundred soldiers during their two-week annual training cycle this summer after moving to the field Sunday, June third. While in the field, soldiers will train in weapons qualifications, physical fitness, and infantry tactics until they return to Camp ten days later on Tuesday, June twelfth. Soldiers will be paid probably on Wednesday, and then have time to relax a bit Thursday and Friday until they prepare to return to their home state of Indiana on the sixteenth.

Blanchard racist? No way

Almanac

By Richard Milliman

THE FUROR OVER Gov. James Blanchard's campaign television ad on boot camps will die down sooner or later; maybe it never should have arisen.

Anyone who watches television in Michigan — or reads a big-city newspaper, either — is aware of the television spot at the base of the trouble.

It's an ad boosting Gov. Blanchard because of Michigan's program of boot camps for non-hardened youthful lawbreakers. The prisoners agree to go to outstate boot camps, and face a tough regimen of exercise, discipline, and work. The underlying premise is that the boot camp may help turn potential life-time lawbreakers into useful citizens.

Generally, the whole idea — pushed through the legislature, incidentally, by conservative Republican Sen. Jack Welborn of Kalamazoo — has received good marks. Delegations from several other states have visited Michigan to see how the boot camps are operated. Plans also are underway to enlarge the program here in Michigan, too.

IN HIS CAMPAIGN for re-election, Gov. Blanchard produced a TV spot locking him in tightly with the boot camp program. The overlying message is that Mr. Blanchard is not only concerned about crime, he has done something about it, too.

The TV spot itself is what kicked off the uproar. The spot opens with a white drill sergeant shouting commands at a white inmate, pans over several other inmates, mostly black, shows the governor in several favorable lights, and ends up with the white drill sergeant barking at a black inmate, who responds: "Yes, sir!"

Good enough? It seemed so in my book. But many viewers saw the ad as racist.

Why? Apparently, because it showed a lot of black inmates at the camp, but especially, because it depicted a white sergeant in command of a black inmate.

Avid Republican strategists found racism in the ad, and said so to anyone who would listen, starting with the big city media outlets.

After all, this is an election year, and black voters generally are in the Democratic camp. If Republicans could encourage problems between the Blanchard campaign and one of its important constituent groups — black voters — they might realize election day gains.

REPUBLICANS WEREN'T the only ones to find racism in the ad. The Black Caucus in the Michigan Legislature condemned the ad as racist, and urged Mr. Blanchard to cancel it immediately.

Not all black political figures agreed. For example, there was Joel Ferguson of Lansing, developer and media mogul, a primary Democratic party mover and shaker, and Jesse Jackson's main political pipeline into Michigan.

"We're overreacting," Mr. Ferguson was quoted as saying. "It compromises things for when we do have something that is racist."

Gov. Blanchard, meanwhile, defended the ad. He refused to cut short its schedule. The ad is not racist, he insisted. It depicts the boot camp program as it is, he insisted. It showed his concern for crime, is not insulting blacks, nor demeaning, nor inaccurate, he claimed.

WHAT'S REALLY going on here? Probably — as in most political developments, especially during a campaign — a number of things are involved.

The first is politics itself. Republicans saw what they perceived as a possible hole in the Blanchard armor, and started picking at it — pretty successfully, too. It could translate into GOP votes in November.

Others probably genuinely saw the depiction of blacks at the camp in a compromising and subservient position, which they defined as racist. Certainly there is a long history in Michigan and elsewhere to lend credence to such beliefs.

But most probably, the whole uproar underlines potential problems for Mr. Blanchard in the minority and urban areas. The governor has been accused of being unresponsive to urban concerns... and in Michigan, that generally translates into black concerns.

The uproar over the boot camp ad seems out of proportion to the content of the ad. It could be a symbol. It could be a signal to Mr. Blanchard that he needs to build some fences in minority areas, and should not take too much for granted, especially in this politically explosive year.

Letters to the Editor

Grayling Area Pulled Together To Help Others

To the Editor:

Now that things have settled down after the tragic fire that devastated part of our county, it is time to reflect on how the people of the Grayling area pulled together to help others who suffered losses. Within hours the Knights of Columbus had provided the hall that the Red Cross, Social Services, and insurance companies could interview victims and start to process claims. Many businesses provided food for immediate use for the victims and volunteers. This was prepared at the K of C hall by K of C members and their wives led by Sam and Alma Patti who put in countless hours of food preparation.

Tom Trenary of G.T.E. helped to speed up orders for extra phone lines into the hall so the agencies could communicate with victims and families of victims who were trying to locate people who were in the affected area.

The churches opened their doors for clothing and food storage so the victims would have a central area to pick these items up. Many volunteers helped to distribute items from these areas. St. Johns Church had so many clothes in their pews they could not have their regular Sunday service. Rev. Gordon was thinking about the fire victims when he made this decision. You see that this community is not as divided as some people would lead you to believe. The churches, fraternal organizations, National Guard, Mercy Hospital, and many individuals volunteered time or donated food, clothing, or money to assist these people in need. We thank you all and may God bless you.

We pray that everyone received assistance who needed it and are able to start their lives over. The fire was a terrible few hours but it will affect some people's lives for years. We would hope that they will be able to cope with this during the days ahead.

Edward Martella

Our Grayling Leaders Kept Their Promise

To the Editor:

It happened in Grayling in the year of 1972. Our City Fathers, prodded by a devious City Manager (one Jerry Morford), passed a resolution to have the citizens of our fair city to vote upon themselves (and anyone unfortunate enough to work in said community) an income tax.

The people spoke with accustomed stupidity and bought the deal, never realizing the can of worms they were opening. Over the years a never ending parade of new council members appeared but, mesmerized by that Svengali Morford, never made an effort to rectify the Unamerican activity that had been spawned.

What crime was committed? They had solemnly promised to use those funds generated to pave and maintain the city streets. They then proceeded to break all the rules of politics dating back to the cave man - they kept their promise - causing untold misery to all good politicians.

Bill Tufts

Everyone Has Been Thoughtful

My wife and I would like to thank the people of Grayling and surrounding towns. Everyone has been so thoughtful and kind. There are so many organizations that have been there when we have needed them. We would just like to thank everyone for their help.

Pat & Peggy Sullivan

Community Should Be Very Proud

We would like to thank all the people of the Grayling area who have been of so much help to us after our home was totally destroyed.

The care and emotional support of the community will never be forgotten.

To the Red Cross, K. of C., E.M.T.s, National Guard, and all the other organizations and individuals who helped both contain the fire and assist the victims in the aftermath: you should be very proud of what you've done.

Notes from the Woods

By Nancy Lemmen

Wednesday, May 9.

We lie awake in the home of our friends, waiting for daylight. I don't think we have slept at all through the night, but perhaps we dozed off for a few minutes between three and six o'clock. We wait now because we need the light of day before we can return to our own home — or what remains of it.

On Sunday — a scant three days earlier — we spent the afternoon and evening in the yard, with not even the slightest premonition of the events which were to occur on Tuesday.

I raked bags and bags of the nuisance oak leaves into the compost pile. Then Dave and I cut and hauled off several dead standing jack pines, and discussed which trees should go next. We need to get our neighbor Mike over to help with that one leaning toward the house, he said, but the rest should fall easily.

We wandered through the yard, checking new growth on my parents' lilacs of the valley, Elizabeth and Pat's peonies, Grandma Stodola's columbine, Grandpa and Grandma Wagner's lilacs, Mrs. Sinclair's coral bells, Pam's bleeding heart, Teri's gloriosa daisies, Dave's tulips and daffodils, our mothers' irises, Judi's sage, my father's rhubarb, Marcia's myrtle.

Did we walk the dogs that night? I can't recall, but, oh, I hope so. I know they had a great day cavorting in the yard while we worked. Missy had to be called home from our neighbors' several times, and Murphy had to be scolded for running in front of the truck, but Jody was well behaved, as usual. Ally the cat got some outdoor time, too, to stalk small birds and animals. I remarked to Dave that, even though she had no front claws, we needed to buy her a bell to warn any potential prey.

But now Sunday evening is a dream. It is Wednesday morning and finally there is enough daylight to return home. I nurture the ridiculous hope that Tuesday's fire has been a bad nightmare or — even more foolishly — that I was wrong when I saw our house, our garage, our everything in hot, yellow flames.

Of course it was not a nightmare and of course I was correct. Nothing stands now but the chimney and cracked foundation of what hours before had been our cedar chalet in the woods. The contents continue to burn and smolder for the next few hours.

The ground is charred black; nothing green has been spared, except for a small patch near the garden that the fire seems to have missed. Hardly a single tree on the entire 13 acres has survived.

Everything is dead, I think. The house, the garage, the wood shed. The three dogs, the kitten, the neighbors' cats, the squirrel near the driveway. The plants, the shrubs, the wild animals, the pines, the ground cover. Everything.

But I am wrong.

The birds come back first. I hear at least two crows cawing on the leak, cold, drizzly Wednesday morning.

By noon a robin sits in a dead jack pine tree. You might hear a light that the still smoking bark would have burnt little feet, but there he is singing away. The next morning, he or a friend bobs along the charred earth in typical robin fashion, probably hunting breakfast.

Then come the blue jays, the sparrows, the nuthatches, the rose-breasted grosbeaks, the mourning doves, the sparrows, the chickadees. Someone reports seeing two grouse on our property by Friday.

The chipmunks and gophers scurry around the yard and through the ruins of the house, unhampered by the dog police. I see rabbits, squirrels and deer nearby, if not right on our land.

The four rows of cold weather crops that I had planted before May 8 begin to produce seedlings immediately. I think this must be either a cruel irony or else a sign of hope and rebirth. I prefer to believe the latter. Dave encourages me to plant the rest of my garden, but I haven't yet. Maybe I'll feel like it after the school year ends.

Within a week, the grass sends up new shoots, particularly in areas where the sun shines brightly. A few days later, a lone violet blossoms on the very edge of the property. A day later, though, it has vanished, perhaps eaten by a hungry deer or plucked by a curious visitor.

Within two weeks, the celery-like stalks of the bracken ferns emerge. Soon their fronds will be completely spread, helping to hide the still blackened earth.

Two of the peony plants have survived. By late May they are budding. Ants crawl over the round green buds, spreading the pollen necessary for the luscious pink blossoms that even this year will probably appear in mid-June.

Nearby, Joyce's hen and chicks prosper, as does a small area of day lilies. I am amazed that they stood so close to the inferno, yet withstood its heat.

At three and a half weeks after the fire, a friend points to the bottoms of two scrub oak trees and shows us that they have sprouted new half inch growth. It will be a long time before they get to the size of their dead ancestors, he says ruefully, but they are returning.

For days after the fire I have been angry with the land, wrongly accusing it for my losses. You caught on fire, I think spitefully. You took so much of what I loved from me.

Then one evening a friend comes to rake the dead grass into neat little piles and hoe the garden dirt. Her kind act makes me realize that the land has been a victim, too. It needs me to help it regenerate. I want to nurture it, love it, apologize to it for my hateful attitude.

Its need gives me new energy. I will plant some fast-growing aspen trees, red and white pines, a variety of fir trees, perhaps some larch. My mother will give me some of her father's violet and white lilacs. My friends have offered me more perennials. Kathleen will donate a bleeding heart for the area of the property which has recently become the pet cemetery.

It is small compensation for what was lost on May 8, but at this point in my life I must be grateful for small treasures. Any large ones await me at some unknown time in the future.

Perhaps it will be hearing the yapping of a new puppy, perhaps the sight of a live tree that stands taller than I do. Whatever they turn out to be, I must look forward to better times ahead.

Let's Talk About It

By Joe Murphy

I'm amazed at the number of people that say they enjoy my writing, both of my columns have some readers. Some people say "Oh, you're the fellow who writes for the Avalanche." My answer is, "No, I write for the people and the Avalanche is kind enough to publish it. I am not employed by the Avalanche in any way, I only want to capture some of our history in print. I write of current events knowing that in a few years it too will be history."

Three years ago this month I wrote my first poem in memory of my Dad who had passed away twenty years before. I tried to tell it just like it was, for my Dad was also my best friend. We both seemed to love the same things: horses, dogs, guns, and hunting. I quit school in the ninth grade, for with my brothers in service in W.W. II, I knew Dad was killing himself trying to keep the farm going alone. My lack of a high school diploma held me back at times during my working days. But I treasure those years I had with Dad more than any amount of money its lack ever cost me. I wish every boy could have as close a relationship as I had with my Dad. He taught me so much about the joys and the heart break of life and how to cope with either. If it had not been for those great memories I have of my Dad I doubt if I would have ever written a line of poetry.

My second poem was for my Mom who was always there when I needed her. Mom was always my anchor and my safe harbor. She always had time to listen to my hopes and fears or paddle my butt when I needed it, which was quite often. Though they have been gone many years now, there has not been a day that they have not both lived in my memories. It is said "no one is truly dead until the last person who remembers them is also dead." I think that is very true.

Since those first poems I have written about three hundred poems, many of which have been published in the Avalanche. I have had two books of poetry printed, the first is MEMORIES OF FREDERIC MY HOMETOWN. All proceeds from the sale of that book go to the Frederic Library building fund. The second is IT SEEMS LIKE ONLY YESTERDAY, with all proceeds to the Museum here in Grayling. A ten dollar donation will get you a copy of either, which I would be happy to autograph for you if you wish.

Come on folks, let's raise some money for a couple of good causes. To order by mail send a check payable to either cause to Joe Murphy, 603 Maple St., Grayling, MI 49738 or stop at the house. You can order one by phone, 517/348-8308.

"I want to continue to serve the children of the district," said Carpenter. "My experience on the board is a valuable asset. I see C.O.O.R. as providing both requested and mandated services to the local districts. In the past," he continued, "C.O.O.R. has been a leader in providing services and innovative ideas in the field of education and I expect this leadership will continue."

Junior Clemens has been a resident of Ogemaw County for 62 years. In addition to a high school education, Clemens has taken many insurance courses. He has been with Farm Bureau Insurance Company for 40 years. He was an agent for 25 years and in management for 15 years.

Clemens is the father of seven children. If elected, Clemens said he would represent the West Branch-Rose City Area Schools. He is a past C.O.O.R. board member for seven years, and a past R.O.O.C. Board member.

Ralph H. Cochran has been a resident of Ogemaw County for three years. He is a candidate for a six-year seat on the C.O.O.R. ISD Board.

Cochrane has a bachelor of arts degree in special education from William Paterson College, Wayne, New Jersey, and is currently attending graduate school at Saginaw Valley State University. He also attended Northern Michigan University majoring in elementary education.

Cochrane has worked as a teacher for the West Branch/Rose City Schools, taught at C.O.O.R., and was program coordinator for a Macomb County Association for Retarded Citizens workshop in Mt. Clemens.

"I am running because I feel my background and expertise in special education and experience in vocational training may help to ensure that C.O.O.R. continues to operate programs that are beneficial to children and cost effective," said Cochran.

Phyllis Dale, has been a resident of Crawford County for 18 years and Roscommon County for 16 years.

Dale received a Licensed Practical Nursing certificate from Kirtland Community College, an Associate of Science degree in Nursing from Kirtland and a Bachelor of Science degree in Community Development and Health Sciences from Central Michigan University.

She has worked as a registered nurse (R.N.) for North Central Community Mental Health with developmentally disabled clients, an R.N. for Tolfree Hospital in West Branch and Northern Michigan Hospital in Petoskey in orthopedics and mental health. Dale is currently working at North Central Community Mental Health with the mentally ill.

"If elected, I plan to support the C.O.O.R. tradition of providing quality education for our special needs students," said Dale. "I feel that my education and background will allow me to function as an effective, sensitive school board member."

Charles L. Jackson has been a resident of Crawford County since 1989.

He received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Washington University, Masters degree from Indiana State University and P.h. D. from Michigan State University.

Jackson worked as a high school principal, university professor in teacher education and Assistant Dean of the College of Education at Michigan State University.

If elected, Jackson said he would support the quality of education in the four counties, fiscal responsibility of limited funding, school improvement, and cooperation with local agencies.

Larry A. Roggow is running unopposed for the two-year position on the C.O.O.R. board.

as Attorney-Magistrate of the 82nd District Court (June 1988-Sept. 1989), and has been on the River House Shelter Advisory Council for about four years.

"I want to foster better community relations between all of our communities and the college," said Galer, "so that with increased community support, the college can provide even more educational services for each community and for all our students."

Erma Stevens has been a resident of Roscommon County for five years, for five years prior to that she made the area her part-time residence.

She earned her Bachelor of Science, Masters and P.h.D. degrees from the University of Michigan. She is a retired Professor of Education from Eastern Michigan University. Stevens was chairman of the Social Foundations Division and director of the Office of International Studies at Eastern Michigan Univ.

"I would like to see the student population increase and the faculty encouraged to develop a greater variety of courses and programs to serve the needs of both the students and our growing communities," said Stevens. "Hopefully, I could make a contribution to the achievement of these two objectives."

The following candidates filed for the two two-year positions:

A. William Boehner has been a resident of Crawford County for nine years.

Boehner received his Bachelor of Science and Masters degrees from the University of Maine and his Ph.D. from the University of Minnesota.

He has been with the Weyerhaeuser Company for 15 years. For seven years, he worked in research and development and eight years in manufacturing as technical director and product development manager. Boehner has worked for four years coordinating Weyerhaeuser Company grants to the community.

"I have a great respect for education and believe that education will be increasingly important for the success of the people in this area as well as this country," said Boehner. "American industry has and will continue to face strong competitive challenges from abroad, and we need well trained and educated individuals to compete effectively in a rapidly changing and increasingly technical world. Kirtland Community College provides an excellent opportunity for the people in this area to continue their education and obtain opportunities otherwise unavailable to them," he continued.

"I would like to be involved with the continuous improvement of Kirtland Community College," Boehner stated. "I believe that my view of education and my employment as a research scientist and product development manager in a large corporation has given me skills which will enable me to be an effective member of the Board of Trustees. Additionally," he concluded, "my involvement with the Weyerhaeuser Company Foundation has helped me understand the needs of our community and the challenges faced by a college serving a rural constituency."

James L. Delahanty has been a resident of Ogemaw County for ten years and is a candidate for a two-year seat on the Kirtland Community College Board of Trustees.

Delahanty has a Bachelor of Science degree in civil engineering from Michigan Technological University. He is the president of the Central Paving Company and worked as the engineer-manager of the Iosco County Road Commission from 1972-1980. Delahanty is a registered Professional Engineer in Michigan and Indiana.

"I believe my management experience in both the public and private sectors will enable me to provide a worthwhile contribution to the Kirtland Board of Trustees," said Delahanty. "The duty of a trustee is to provide direction for the chief administrator and to set policy for the college. If elected, I will make every effort to fulfill my responsibility from this perspective."

Peter Javoroski has been a resident of Roscommon County for 21 years.

Javoroski received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Northern State University, Aberdeen, South Dakota, and has attended Central Michigan University, Northern Michigan University and the University of Michigan. An English teacher at the Houghton Lake High School, Javoroski has also taught in the Lapeer and Millington school systems.

"I think that I have something to offer as an independent thinker," said Javoroski. "I believe this part of the county needs more involvement with the college."

Mary Ouellette Reuther has been a resident of Ogemaw County for 33 years. She attended Kirtland Community College's Licensed Practical Nurse program and is currently enrolled at Kirtland, pursuing an Associate Arts degree.

"I am seeking a position on the Board of Trustees because of my belief in Kirtland and its importance to the district," said Reuther. "If elected, my aim would be to better educate the people of the district and the surrounding areas in hopes of gaining more support for Kirtland."

"As a student, I am sensitive to the needs of the college," stated Reuther. "As a long-time resident of the district I have watched Kirtland grow into an integral part of the district, and as a nurse I am familiar with institutional problems."

Citations Issued For Taking Fawns

DNR conservation officers have begun issuing citations to persons who remove fawns and other young animals from the woods without permission.

Conservation officer Mark Lutz said every spring young animals are taken from the woods by people who think the animals have been abandoned by their mothers. More than 80 percent of these animals die.

"Mom is not that far away," said Lutz. "She is probably just out of sight or hunting for food."

Persons removing a young animal from the woods face fines of about $115 for being in possession of a game animal protected by the DNR without a permit. Anyone finding a young animal and thinks there might be a problem should contact a conservation officer, the nearest DNR field office or sheriff's department.

Michigan's forests serve as Mother Nature's nursery during the spring and are teeming with baby raccoons, rabbits, squirrels, birds and many other types of wildlife. Lutz said they have a much better survival rate if left alone.

4-H Chatterbox

The Needles N Hooks Club leader is Sue Louchart. She donates her time from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. once a week for five young people. She keeps it small to be better able to give individual time to each one. The ages are from 8 to 11 and they go year-round. The projects used are only those involving needles or hooks and includes the sewing machine. They have worked on straps for Easter baskets, candlewicks, looms for pot holders, knitting knobby, crocheting, embroidery, plastic canvas, and finger weaving. The 4-Hers learned to iron, the proper use of scissors, reading a pattern, and straightening material. They all received blue ribbons at Achievement Day for their projects. The students have visited the Ice House in Grayling and Arnie's in Houghton Lake. Right now, some are hand piecing a doll quilt top, a gingerbread pattern to make a toy, and candlewicking on muslin for a pillow. They plan on entering projects for the Fair in July. At last year's Fair, Heather Millikin, Carrie Hubbard, and Cheryl McCurdy won blue ribbons for their outstanding projects. Sue has Karen Louchart, who gives of her time to help out occasionally.

The last club we will be featuring this year until the new ones start in the fall is the 4-H Teen Club. It consists of 6th, 7th, and 8th graders. There are about 17 Teens involved. Sandy Davis and Margaret Cook are the Co-Leaders and they all meet twice a month in the basement of the Court House. They have an ambitious assistant with Shelley Hubbard who helps out each meeting. The young people have their own officers to preside at meetings and they are: President Brooke Blaauw, Vice-President Benjamin Cook, Secretary Jeremiah Blaauw, and Treasurer Max Thompson. Now gals before you think that secretaries and treasurers have to be girls, think of our United States secretary and treasurers. A very great number have been men and they had to start learning at an early age too. I'm sorry I can't say the reverse for the President or Vice-President. This hard working bunch of teens have participated in a town clean up on a Sunday afternoon, which is no easy task! They have fund raising for recreational activities such as bowling, pizza parties, and also have earned half the money needed for Exploration Days at Kettunen Center. They are learning social and recreational skills and right now are studying about the rain forests and recycling. They are planning a booth at the Crawford County Fair this year so be sure and come out to see them and ask questions. They also will be looking for a larger group this fall so when the time comes be prepared to say yes and join. If some adults are asked to volunteer to help, say yes. It is a very rewarding time and you can make a difference in a young person's life.

Habitat for Humanity Establishing Housing Program in County

Habitat for Humanity is establishing itself in Crawford County. The non-profit, Christian outreach program is working in partnership with poor people to improve the conditions in which they are forced to live. The program seeks to build up both the tangible and spiritual aspects of a community.

With an average annual income of $15,000 or less for nearly 50% of Crawford County residents, finding adequate housing is a dire need. Habitat for Humanity: Grayling offers a housing alternative in cooperation with skilled volunteers and the recipients of that housing.

Financial contributions are needed for land acquisition, materials, and labor that cannot be obtained via donations.

Whatever your skill or gift, there is a place for you in Habitat for Humanity. You can be a vital partner in removing substandard housing and help low income families own their own home. Their next meeting is June 12, 7 p.m. at the Michelson Memorial United Methodist Church.

New Insurance Plan Topic at Chamber Lunch & Issues

The Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce will be holding a special "Lunch & Issues" program on Thursday, June 7, 12 noon, at the Copper Kettle Restaurant, Grayling. The guest speaker for the luncheon program will be the Vice President and Northeast Chamber Blue Cross Representative, Ralph Stepaniak.

The Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce has secured the Northeast Chamber Blue Cross insurance program for all members. Mr. Stepaniak, a highly knowledgeable representative of the Northeast Chamber Program, will discuss this important service.

The cost of the Luncheon program is $6 for Chamber Members and $7.50 for non-chamber members. Money will be collected at the door.

And unlike some banks, there are no annual fees with these home equity loans, either.

NO WAIT.

Once you apply, you'll get an answer on your loan in as few as 24 hours. All you need to do is provide us with the necessary information, including the existing balance on your mortgage, which you can get from your mortgage lender, and your home's assessed valuation.

HOME EQUITY LOANS.

You can borrow anywhere from $5,000 to $100,000, depending on the equity in your home. And Old Kent gives you two choices:

Home Equity Line of Credit — offers the flexibility of writing a check whenever you need a loan.

Homeowner's Loan — offers the comfort of a fixed rate, fixed term loan. Both offer advantages over many credit cards or installment loans:

- Lower interest
- Lower monthly payments
- Tax deductible interest — consult your tax advisor.

Old Kent offers low interest rates, too. The current Annual Percentage Rate is 11½% or 12%, depending on your line of credit. The APR may vary, but will not exceed 18%, and can go as low as 10%.

1-800-FON-KENT

You can apply for your home equity loan right over the phone by calling 1-800-FON-KENT. And to make it even easier, if you don't live near an Old Kent office, we'll close the loan at a place that's convenient for you.

Citizen-Soldiers Maintain High Quality of 1071st Company

(Parts of this article were printed out of order in the May 31st Avalanche. The story is reprinted here in its entirety, in correct order.)

By Jason Teddy,
Cadet MI ARNG

Maintenance is a term common to all those who operate machinery, but to the soldiers of the 1071st Heavy Equipment Maintenance Company, this term possesses a much deeper meaning. The 1071st, located at the Mobilization and Training Equipment Site (MATES), turns wrenches on everything from Jeeps to tanks, and with great efficiency. In fact, because of the unit's maintenance mission and technical expertise, the 1071st is a high priority unit upon mobilization in time of conflict. This priority allows for the unit to be dispatched to Europe in as little as three days, should the need arise. This responsibility is borne well by the unit, however, according to Captain Ken Arndt, Commander of the 1071st.

Captain Arndt, part owner of the Alpine Appraisal Services, Inc. in Gaylord, served for seven years on active duty in the United States Army before enlisting in the Michigan National Guard in 1987. It was not until December 1989 that he assumed the position of Commanding Officer of the 1071st, which he seems to enjoy greatly.

"I think that the best part about the Army is working with people," says Arndt regarding the National Guard and his role as Commander, "and of the people I've seen in Northern Michigan in the National Guard, the people of the 1071st are the very best." This opinion is seconded by Second Lieutenant Chris Golnick and Company First Sergeant Rudy Martinez as they speak about the fire that recently raged east of Grayling. According to Golnick, approximately fifty to sixty people from the unit volunteered their assistance to the effort.

Golnick, married and father of three, serves as Maintenance Control Officer of the 1071st. As Maintenance Control Officer, Lieutenant Golnick is responsible for overseeing and coordinating workloads between the unit and MATES, which is currently a full-time duty. Fortunately, these duties do not impose significantly upon his home life. In fact, Mrs. Golnick is actively involved in the Family Support Group for the unit, which is an organization that acts as a liaison between the unit and the soldier's family during mobilization and peacetime.

Another officer, Second Lieutenant Luanne Cunningham, reflects the Army's changing attitude regarding women in the Armed Forces. Currently serving as Mechanical Maintenance Platoon Leader, Cunningham supervises and directly controls her own platoon containing dozens of soldiers. Furthermore, Lieutenant Cunningham acts as the unit nuclear, biological, and chemical (NBC) warfare officer, as well as mobilization officer. Also, Lieutenant Cunningham has helped with implementing new programs as directed by the Commander. One of these programs is physical training, where occasionally Lieutenant Cunningham has led aerobics for the unit. This program drew mixed responses from many of the unit's soldiers, who range in age from seventeen years to retirement.

Unlike many of the soldiers in the 1071st, Lieutenant Cunningham does not live in the immediate area. Soon, however, it is her hope that she and her family will be able to find a home in the Grayling area.

Besides being a husband and father, Rudy Martinez, another prominent figure in the 1071st, performs as the Company First Sergeant for the 1071st. Martinez, who has lived in the Grayling area since 1974, has had much experience with the Guard and the community, which he views as a positive, complementary relationship, both socially and economically. Martinez also stressed the selfless service of the soldiers of the 1071st regarding the recent fire and the dedication they exhibited to the unit and to the community. For this he is both grateful and proud, especially when performing his duties as First Sergeant.

Clearly, the men and women of the 1071st HEMCO are unique in their technical and professional mission regarding their role in the defense of our nation. Even more impressive, however, is their dedication to the growth, preservation, and welfare of the community, not only as soldiers, but as citizens as well.

Verse or Worse

By Joe Murphy

CONGRATULATIONS DAVID

David, you've made us very proud
With the fine record you've made in school
It's plain to see you were there to learn
Not goof off and play the fool

You've built a solid foundation
Upon which to build a successful life
I know you will reach your goals
For you have a mind sharp as a knife

I can still see that little boy
Who when he put his boots on the wrong feet
Tried to figure out some way to change just one
Who thought it over hard and long before admitting defeat

I know as you encounter life's problems
You'll handle them in the same way
You'll think of all the ways to solve them
Till you find the one that is O.K.

I wish you all the best in life
May happiness come galore
I hope when opportunity knocks
That it finds an open door

David, my beloved grandson
May the star you follow brightly gleam
For you not only carry my blood
You also carry my dream

Doodles from the Tall Timber

By Wendall L. Hoover

Of late, we have been seeing Peregrine Falcons in the park. At first there was some doubt as to what species was being spotted, but the distinct facial pattern with its dark cap and conspicuous black mustaches left little doubt. Since they have been reported in different locations, there is a possibility that there is more than one pair.

Since they prefer a cliff or an abandoned eagles' nest for a nesting site, the Virgin Pines qualify because we do have an old eagles nest still in existence. If they are using the location in the pines, it would be a good choice since the peregrine is quite tolerant of man.

The peregrine or duck hawk has been drastically reduced in numbers by pesticides. According to one source it is suspected that eating a single, badly contaminated duck can cause a peregrine to become infertile.

This crow sized bird, which is such a spectacular flyer, has all but disappeared from all but the northern parts of its breeding range, which included Alaska and Greenland. Attempts to re-introduce the bird have met with some success, so it is my understanding there will be more releases. Keep an eye out for this speedy bird of prey as you travel the area.

Resource Review

By Bruce Patrick,
Conservation Officer

Zebra mussels are a small (1-1/2" - 2") clam like mollusk which is going to be a very big problem for Michigan and other Great Lakes states.

Introduced into this country through an ocean going freighter which most likely transported them in its bilge from their native Europe, zebra mussels first showed up in 1988 in southeastern Michigan. They have since spread from Niagara Falls to Green Bay and Duluth. Last winter, an accumulation of zebra mussels practically shut down water intake pipes for the city of Monroe.

Other potential impacts of this organism include destruction of rock and gravel spawning beds, blockage of water intakes on inboard and outboard motors, and reduction of plankton on which small fish feed.

An adult zebra mussel can live up to five years, with females producing up to 200,000 eggs in that span. After hatching, the free swimming, microscopic larva travel on water currents for eight to ten days, spreading rapidly. The young mussels must then find a hard surface to attach to or they will die. This attachment is permanent, with colonies several layers thick forming.

It is probably inevitable that zebra mussels will be introduced into inland lakes eventually, as boaters move from Great Lakes to inland lakes, and fishermen dump minnow pails after filling it in an infected body of water.

SSG (E-6) James Bishaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bishaw, 607 Chestnut Street, who is currently assigned to an Army Recruiting Office in Detroit, is congratulated by Maj. Harold Brown, Executive Office, Michigan Recruiting District, on his recent promotion to his present rank. SSG Bishaw, a 1955 graduate of Grayling High School, was in the Air force from 1955 to 1959. After a 5 year period as an IBM Operator Jim decided he preferred military life to civilian life and he enlisted in the Army in January, 1964.

A brush fire of unknown origin called out the City Fire Department Wednesday night of last week to the Standard Oil bulk plant at Lake Street. An area about the size of a city block was burned over, but no damage done otherwise, department officials said. The Conservation Department was called on this fire.

On May 28 the Conservation Department was called to put out a fire at noon in AuSable Woods on the East Branch, caused by burning debris without a permit and leaving the fire tho only for a short time. The smoke was picked up by the fire tower. Assistance was rendered to the Kalkaska Fire Department May 31st at an estimated 3-acre fire at Boiling Springs near the Manistee River in which a cabin belonging to a party named Sund was burned down. National Guard equipment from Camp Grayling also assisted.

A fire broke out on the AuSable mainstream Friday,

June 2 in Sec. 11m 26-2 across from Longworth residence, possibly caused by smokers. People in the area brought the fire under control, and the Department tractor-plo w plowed it out. One-half acre was estimated as burned. Equipment was called directly from that fire to another in the Forest Service area south of M-72 on M-144, which burned 1 1/2 acres before coming under control. While on that one a third fire originating at Sec. 30, 25-2 east of the Steckert Bridge area blazed up in mixed oak and jackpine with lots of dead and down oak, making conditions extremely difficult for the fire fighters. Five tractor-plo w units, four pumpers and 1 Roscommon City fire truck were required, with about 30 people, to bring the 40 acre fire under control at about 6:15 p.m. The same day a grass fire on 612 near the county line required equipment from the Grayling station to assist.

What appeared to be a forest fire Thursday north of 612 was a controlled burn in the bombing range. Monday the mortar range southwest of Camp Grayling was also controlled burned.

State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler said yesterday the Crawford County Road Commission will assume maintenance of state trunkline highways in this county June 15 under contract with the State Highway Department. At present the commission is maintaining 745 miles of county roads. Under the new contract the commission will assume responsibility for the 75 miles of state trunklines now maintained by men and equipment from the state garage at Grayling.

Col. Norman L. Ballard arrived Monday from Florence, S.C. to spend his furlough with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. S.L. Ballard on the AuSable River. Col. Ballard has had 3 1/2 years of foreign service.

Fifteen Girl Scouts, under the leadership of Mrs. Joseph Stripe, assisted by Barbara Borchers, completed the ten activities which took them from the Tenderfoot group into the Second Class Scout group. There are 28 Scouts in the Troop and those awarded Second Class badges were Patty Mallinger, Joan Bond, Patsy Bishaw, Doris Golinick, Christine Sales, Joan Randolph, Anne Holm, Nancy Hoesli, Sue Giegling, Ruth Decker, Patsy Failing, Barbara Nelson, Vera Tinker, Phyllis Bennett, and Betty Jean Mathewson. The Troop is sponsored by the Ladies' Aid of the Michelson Memorial Church, the committee being Mrs. Frank Schmidt, Mrs. Harold Jarmin and Mrs. Hans Peterson, who served refreshments to the Troop and mothers following the ceremony. Sue Giegling, reporter.

Crawford County's quota for the sale of 5th War Loan Bonds amounts to $52,000. According to John Bruun, county chairman, the people of Crawford County have purchased in war loan bonds since Pearl Harbor the vast sum of $736,000.

From the great pine country that made Michigan famous all over the world, the state and private owners now are harvesting a fourth crop—oil and gas. John Bruun, one of the liquidating trustees of the Salling Hanson Co. of Grayling says "the white pine in many instances was not the most productive crop from a financial standpoint. After the pine came the hardwood and hemlock, and I daresay that the hardwood produced more wealth than the white pine." After the hardwood and hemlock came the tourist boom. Today the industry is estimated as worth $300,000,000 annual to Michigan. The fourth crop is now being harvested; first white pine, then hardwood, next the tourist, and now gas and oil.

Tuesday morning about 6:30 o'clock, who should come to take in the sights of Grayling, but a deer. Possibly the deer was rather new at "window shopping"...the animal came thru Dr. Stealy's yard and continued across Grayling's main thoroughfare — jay-walking at that. He seemed in a hurry as tho someone were after him. After getting across the street he jumped thru the plate glass window of Kraus' 5¢ to $1 store, shattering the window and cutting himself, his front feet landing just inside the window. Rather shocked, he went away from there and on down the street, leaving drops of blood; pausing for an instant in front of the Olson's shoe store to take a look at the display, he went on past the courthouse and up by the school. That is the last place the deer was reported seen.

Saturday, during the storm at Maple Forest, two of Charles Owen's cows were struck by lightning and killed. A third cow nearby escaped unhurt.

Leo Maynard Bindshatel is to leave Saturday for Great Lakes Naval Training Station, having enlisted in the Navy. Prior to his enlistment he was employed at Dow Chemical Co. at Midland. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bindshatel of Frederic and is 17 years old.

"AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER"

I. SOLICITATION FOR EMPLOYMENT APPLICATIONS

The CCTA does not currently have any employment openings. However, when openings do occur, the CCTA uses its existing application pool as a primary resource in the hiring process. As is consistent with this practice, the CCTA will accept employment applications during regular office hours from any applicant, for any position, irrespective of whether, or not, an opening exists at that time.

Individuals interested in employment with the Dial-A-Ride program are encouraged to obtain and submit an employment application. Applications are kept on file for no less than one (1) year, and qualified individuals with applications on file are considered for openings which occur during that time period.

The address for requesting and submitting applications is as follows:
Crawford County Public Transit
590 South Merrio Road
Rt. # 5, Box 2989
Grayling, Michigan 49738
(517) 348-8251

It is the policy of the CCTA to reserve the right to make hiring decisions contingent upon the results of a physical examination, including alcohol and drug screening.

"AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER"

The Bible Speaks

I John 2:7-11 Part # 6 Believers Love Brethren

Brotherly love is not a choice, but a command. "Brethren, I write no new commandment unto you, but an old commandment which ye had from the beginning. The old commandment is the word which ye have heard from the beginning." (I John 2:7). The commandments to love God and our neighbor were first given in the Old Testament law. Deuteronomy 6:5, Leviticus 19:18, and Leviticus 19:34 are summed up by Jesus in Matthew 22:37-40 as the supreme commandments of God upon which "all the law and the prophets" hang. Our Lord Jesus Christ was the true light which brought full meaning to love by his righteous life and sacrificial death for our sins.

"Again, a new commandment I write unto you, which thing is true in him and in you: because the darkness is past, and the true light now shineth." (I John 2:8). One who wishes to see a true picture of God's love need go nowhere but to the cross of Calvary. (John 3:16).

Brotherly love is not charitable, but Christian. "He that saith he is in the light, and hateth his brother, is in darkness even until now." (I John 2:9). "Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer: and ye know that no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him." (I John 3:15). "If we say that we have fellowship with him, and walk in darkness, we lie, and do not the truth." (I John 1:6).

Brother love is not confusing, but clarifying. "He that loveth his brother abideth in the light, and there is none occasion of stumbling in him." (I John 2:10). "Let us not therefore judge one another any more: but judge this rather, that no man put a stumblingblock or an occasion to fall in his brother's way." (Romans 14:13). Love "abideth in the light." Therefore, love walks in truth and speaks in truth. "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path." (Psalm 119:105). The more we speak the truth in love the more we dispel darkness and help others not to stumble.

Speaking in truth in love is being honest with people. If you had cancer, you would want the doctor to speak the truth in love. If you had an engine bearing going out in your car, you would want the mechanic to speak the truth in love. If you were a soldier going into battle against unfavorable odds, you would want the commander to be honest with you. The pastor's job is hard. All people are sinners. Those who die outside of Jesus Christ will spend eternity in Hell. It is not love to let people go to Hell without giving them the truth about their sin and God's salvation. Love is honest even when it is tough.

CHURCH DIRECTORY

DON'T STOP THERE...

What a disappointment! You had a tremendous drive, the perfect chip shot, and a brilliant putt. Then your ball stopped at the edge of the cup. The birdie you thought was yours didn't materialize.

Of course, it's only a game. It doesn't really matter. But blighted hopes are not always so trivial. What if something really big passes you by? Suppose you don't get that promotion, your child's scholarship is given to someone else, or the stock market wipes out your investment? Where do you turn? Where do you find strength to meet life's disillusionments?

Spiritual values are constant. Fortunes may shift and change, but God's House stands firm. The truths and inspiration you find there give meaning, purpose, and stability to your life.

Be inspired this week.

Grayling To Host MUCC Annual Convention June 22-24

More than 400 delegates representing conservation, environmental, and outdoor recreation organizations throughout the state will gather in Grayling June 22-24 for the 53rd annual meeting of the state's largest conservation organization - Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC).

Wendell Briggs of Grand Rapids, MUCC president completing his second term in office, will call the convention to order and deliver opening remarks at 9:30 a.m., Friday June 22 at the Grayling Holiday Inn.

At 11 a.m., Dr. Gordon Guyer, vice president of governmental relations for Michigan State University and a member of the Michigan Natural Resources Commission, will deliver a special presentation entitled "Leadership for Tomorrow," followed by a brief question and answer session.

Continuing a long-standing tradition, David Hales, director of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources will deliver remarks to delegates at the annual Director's Luncheon, scheduled for 12 noon, Friday, June 22. Following his remarks, Hales will field questions from delegates and guests on natural resource management and environmental protection issues.

The evening of Saturday, June 23, MUCC delegates and guests will honor the achievements of Michigan's outstanding conservationists for 1989 during the association's annual conservation awards banquet. Twelve individuals and organizations will be honored for their contributions to the disciplines of natural resource conservation and environmental protection.

During the three-day conclave, delegates from MUCC's 447 affiliate clubs will debate and vote on nearly 50 resolutions addressing sport fishing, hunting, fish and wildlife management, environmental protection, energy policy, forestry, water and air quality, and other conservation and outdoor recreation issues. All business sessions of the MUCC annual meeting are open to the public.

Under association bylaws, local clubs and organizations associated with MUCC have an opportunity to draft and submit policy resolutions for consideration at the annual meeting. Resolutions are reviewed and debated by club representatives at the association's district and regional levels before being considered at the annual meeting. Convention delegates' votes on the resolutions establish official MUCC policy on these issues.

"For more than a half-century, the MUCC convention has offered conservation club members from all walks of life an opportunity to openly discuss and debate important conservation issues and cast their vote on policy-setting resolutions," said Thomas L. Washington, MUCC executive director. "Dedicated involvement and active participation by conservation-minded citizens around the state has been and continues to be the key to MUCC's remarkable record of success."

MUCC is the largest nonprofit state federation of conservation and outdoor recreation organizations in America. It is dedicated to furthering the cause of the environment and conservation and to promoting programs designed to educate citizens in natural resource conservation and environmental protection and enhancement.

Make sure they get the message!

Education may be the only hope we have to overcome the myriad of complex problems facing the world, the United States, Michigan, and even Crawford County.

Our Grayling High School seniors have successfully completed 13 years of school -- a feat not accomplished by as many as 40 percent of young adults their ages in other areas. The Avalanche and Crawford County businesses are proud to publish this special GHS Graduation Keepsake Section with photographs of the students, their honors, and some of the fun they had along the way.

The next time you see one of these seniors, let them know you're proud of their accomplishment. A high school diploma can be a cornerstone for a better world.

Congratulations, Class of '90!

"Best Wishes"
Jennifer Naour
and the Graduating Class

You've worked hard to make it through the four years of High School.

You've also had fun along the way - Homecomings, clubs, and committees, dances - and even getting your driver's license.

You have many choices ahead of you following high school. Some of you are going directly to the working world. Others may learn trades or take advanced training. And still others are looking forward to adding to your education in college.
